

The Canadian Aboriginal Community-Based HIV/AIDS Research (CJACBR)

Published by Canadian Aboriginal AIDS Network (CAAN)

Call for Papers

The Canadian Aboriginal AIDS Network (CAAN) is calling for papers to be considered for the second issue of the Canadian Journal of Aboriginal Community-Based HIV/AIDS Research (CJACBR). The CJACBR is a peer-reviewed journal, published by CAAN, which welcomes contributions from any author. Priority will be given to an author of Aboriginal ancestry/background, should manuscripts of comparable quality be available. First consideration will be given to innovative articles covering areas identified as HIV/AIDS research- which demonstrate the use of Aboriginal Community-Based Research (ACBR) methods or philosophy.

Articles should be submitted related to the following themes:

- Aboriginal community-based HIV/AIDS research and development: These are articles using either quantitative/qualitative research methods that are community-based in design and process and prepared in a language and manner appropriate to the audience.
- Commentary: These are opinion pieces. They speak to trends in communication or other issues of importance to professional communicators.
- Dissemination of Results Findings: These articles focus on results or recent findings related to Aboriginal Community Based HIV/AIDS Research.
- Emerging Issues in Aboriginal Community-based HIV/AIDS Research (ACBR): These articles focus on ground-breaking issues, findings and/or reports grounded in ACBR.
- International work that includes an Aboriginal Canadian component: Articles written for or by an international audience about Indigenous peoples, HIV/AIDS and/or related issues. Articles must include a Canadian component.
- Ownership, Control, Access, and Possession: Articles that focus on or enhance the use of the Ownership, Control, Access and Possession principals.
- Professional/Personal Development: These articles are based upon the author(s) particular expertise on a subject that will benefit service design/delivery and/or the career development of Aboriginal peoples involved in the HIV/AIDS movement.
- Review: These are critiques of new books, journal articles or anything else that would be appropriate for the audience of the CJACBR.
- Stories: These are personal accounts of experiences related to HIV/AIDS. Service providers can also submit an account of very successful and innovative approaches to address HIV/AIDS in Aboriginal communities.
- Student work: Students at the MA or PhD levels can submit articles (term papers, thesis, etc) that focus on HIV/AIDS in Aboriginal communities.

Submission Deadline: Monday, January 15, 2007. Manuscripts submitted via e-mail should be sent to Randy Jackson (randyj@caan.ca). All submissions are peer-reviewed (blind).

Inquiries: Information and policies for the Canadian Journal of Aboriginal Community-Based HIV/AIDS Research (CJACBR) are available at www.caan.ca. Inquiries related to the suitability of manuscripts, article submission, writing style guidelines, guidelines for Peer reviewers, updates or back issues, may be directed to Renee Masching (reneem@caan.ca) or Jann Ticknor (jannt@caan.ca).
