Call for Papers

The Canadian Aboriginal AIDS Network (CAAN) is calling for papers to be considered for the second issue of the Canadian Journal of Aboriginal Community-Based HIV/AIDS Research (CJACBR). The CJACBR is a peer-reviewed journal, published by CAAN, which welcomes contributions from any author. Priority will be given to an author of Aboriginal ancestry/background, should manuscripts of comparable quality be available. First consideration will be given to innovative articles covering areas identified as HIV/AIDS research- which demonstrate the use of Aboriginal Community-Based Research (ACBR) methods or philosophy.

Articles should be submitted related to the following themes:

- Aboriginal community-based HIV/AIDS research and development: These are articles using either quantitative/qualitative research methods that are community-based in design and process and prepared in a language and manner appropriate to the audience.
- Commentary: These are opinion pieces. They speak to trends in communication or other issues of importance to professional communicators.
- Dissemination of Results/Findings: These articles focus on results or recent findings related to Aboriginal Community Based HIV/AIDS Research.
- Emerging Issues in Aboriginal Community-based HIV/AIDS Research (ACBR): These articles focus on ground-breaking issues, findings and/or reports grounded in ACBR.
- International work that includes an Aboriginal Canadian component: Articles written for or by an international audience about Indigenous peoples, HIV/AIDS and/or related issues. Articles must include a Canadian component.
- Ownership, Control, Access, and Possession: Articles that focus on or enhance the use of the Ownership, Control, Access and Possession principle.
- Professional/Personal Development: These articles are based upon the author(s) particular expertise on a subject that will benefit service design/delivery and/or the career development of Aboriginal peoples involved in the HIV/AIDS movement.
- Review: These are critiques of new books, journal articles or anything else that would be appropriate for the audience of the CJACBR.
- Stories: These are personal accounts of experiences related to HIV/AIDS. Service providers can also submit an account of very successful and innovative approaches to address HIV/AIDS in Aboriginal communities.
- Student work: Students at the MA or PhD levels can submit articles (term papers, thesis, etc) that focus on HIV/AIDS in Aboriginal communities.

Submission Deadline: Friday, October 30, 2009. Please submit manuscripts via email to the Canadian Journal of Aboriginal Community-Based HIV/AIDS Research at cjacbr@caan.ca. All submissions are peer-reviewed (blind).
